

Arctic Ice Mostly Gone by 2019?

Data released by the researcher in October 2009 after three months measuring ice on the Arctic Ocean suggests that the North Pole could be largely open sea in summer within a decade – and ice free by 2029.

Article link:

<http://www.tourism-review.com/arctic-ice-mostly-gone-by-2019-news10165>