

Bike Down an Active Volcano

Aloha from the Big Island of Hawai'i, home to one of the most active volcanoes in the world, Kilauea Volcano. Join BikeVolcano.com on an incredible guided bicycle adventure as you explore Kilauea Volcano from summit to sea. Experiencing the Hawaii Volcanoes National Park, Kilauea Volcano's East Rift Zone and Active Lava Flow by bicycle is simply amazing.

BikeVolcano.com's guided bicycle tours of the Hawaii Volcanoes National Park takes you around the rim of the erupting summit crater of Kilauea Volcano. You will see incredible huge craters, lush native rainforests, stand next to steaming hot vents, and see dynamic lava formations.

The Professional Interpretive Guides will take you through fantastic terrains, all on mostly downhill and level paved roads and trails, while sharing geological and mythological information with you. From lush ancient Hawaiian rainforests to dynamic lava landscapes, you will experience a variety of microclimates, huge craters, stand by steaming vents, walk through a lava tube, and if Madame Pele (the Volcano Goddess) allows, you'll see active lava flows pouring into the Pacific Ocean. Bike as much or as little of this majestic tour, a support van will always be close by.

The sights you see in the Hawaii Volcanoes National Park are large-scale and breathtaking. Touring the Park by bicycle is absolutely the most unique and exciting ride anywhere on the Big Island of Hawai'i.
