

Traveling with Children Back in Time

We all come from somewhere. Whether our parents bravely crossed borders for a better life before we were born, or generations ago our families were deeply entrenched in the southern hemisphere, our bloodlines race with the trade winds across the oceans to connect to another land and another time. Nowadays, more and more travelers are discovering the roots of these bloodlines through heritage travel, which combines the excitement, relaxation and bonding of a vacation with the education of a history lesson...

Date: 2007-04-23

Article link:

<http://www.tourism-review.com/travel-tourism-magazine-traveling-with-children-back-in-time-article1>

54