

Educational Tourism A Booming Industry

Rhoda Flaxman had grown tired of beach vacations and became intrigued when she heard about a trip co-sponsored by her alma mater, Bryn Mawr College. It promised a thorough learning experience about the lives and experiences of women in Jordan, including meetings with a human rights attorney, a literature professor and Jordan's first female ambassador to the United Nations...

Date: 2007-04-23

Article link:

<http://www.tourism-review.com/travel-tourism-magazine-educational-tourism-a-booming-industry-article176>