

Go Learn Something: Budget Educational Travel

College graduates who have traveled for extended times will tell you they learned far more on the road than they ever did at the university. Politics, history, geography, religion, architecture, and even marine biology present themselves in everyday case studies. Plus with all those long bus and train rides, you finally have some time to read some literature, not just the Cliff Notes...

Date: 2007-04-23

Article link:

<http://www.tourism-review.com/travel-tourism-magazine-go-learn-something-budget-educational-travel-article179>