

Log on to the next Wave in tourism

For many people the thought of a career in hospitality, leisure and tourism brings up images of chefs, fitness instructors and overseas reps....and nothing else! Well of course, these are all careers that fall within these sectors, but there is so much more to consider....in fact much, much more, the hospitality industry alone employs 1 in every 10 people in the UK, that's over 2.5 million people working in more than 30,000 establishments. Also, 1 in every 5 new jobs fall into this sector with another 400,000 new jobs created by 2006 according to The British Hospitality Association...
