

Places: The New Brand Frontier

While branding has been applied to consumer products for decades, the concept of strategically branding countries, cities and regions really only appeared during the mid-90 's to assist them to compete more effectively in an increasingly marketing environment.

Date: 2007-06-25

Article link:

<http://www.tourism-review.com/travel-tourism-magazine-places-the-new-brand-frontier-article242>