

Globetrotters Find Homes on the Road

The first time I visited Jakarta, Indonesia—feeling groggy after a 15-hour train ride and disoriented in this unfamiliar city—I was relieved I had arranged to stay with Margaretha and her family. As my local, Indonesian hosts, they welcomed me into their home and shared their customs, values and viewpoints with me, as well as a great city map...

Date: 2008-02-25

Article link:

<http://www.tourism-review.com/travel-tourism-magazine-globetrotters-find-homes-on-the-road-article-432>