

Telluride Film Festival: 29 Aug–1 Sept 2008

Each Labor Day weekend, the tiny mountain village of Telluride, Colorado triples in size. Swells of passionate film enthusiasts flood the town for four days of total cinematic immersion, embarking on a viewing odyssey, blissfully spending entire days in flickering dark rooms. With only an appreciation of celluloid to guide them, these devotees flock to the show, year after year. Why? Blind faith. The program is not revealed until everyone lands in town. Yet the Telluride family trusts that a unique experience will unfold...

Date: 2008-03-31

Article link:

<http://www.tourism-review.com/travel-tourism-magazine-telluride-film-festival-29-aug-1-sept-2008-article455>