

Merging Architecture and Accessibility

In the Nordic countries, improving disabled people's access to museums, art galleries and other cultural institutions has been an important consideration for a number of years. It is evident that museum buildings and the way displayed objects are presented should embrace all visitors; one of the challenges confronting museums at the turn of the twenty-first century is to ensure the greatest possible accessibility for all without compromising the architectural expression...

Date: 2008-03-31

Article link:

<http://www.tourism-review.com/travel-tourism-magazine-merging-architecture-and-accessibility-article>
480