

Spa Clients Warned to Be Cautious

Kile Law, Raleigh Day Spa Expert, urges consumers to ask about a spas policy of clients being left alone in treatment rooms before scheduling an appointment or purchasing a gift certificate. "One of the most disturbing practices happening in spas today is leaving clients unattended in treatment rooms," says Kile Law. Rather than giving clients 100% of their attention, many spas actually have therapists working on two clients in different rooms at the same time...

Date: 2008-04-28

Article link:

<http://www.tourism-review.com/travel-tourism-magazine-spa-clients-warned-to-be-cautious-article50>

2