

Look Closely at the Great White

It goes without saying that shark diving is not for the faint of heart. Though you might be lucky enough to witness the awesome spectacle of a great white hurtling out of the sea, the real treat begins when you're locked into a steel cage and lowered underwater. There you will be in the middle of a churning war zone of the ocean's most formidable predators as they are driven into a feeding frenzy. On the bright side, you can wet yourself and nobody will know...

Date: 2008-06-30

Article link:

<http://www.tourism-review.com/travel-tourism-magazine-look-closely-at-the-great-white-article566>