

Kyrgyz: An “Emerging” Language

In the streets of Bishkek, two languages are found side by side on advertising billboards, at newsstands and in conversations. After gaining its independence in 1991, Kyrgyzstan adopted Kyrgyz as its national language and kept Russian as the official language. Linguistic results are mixed...

Date: 2008-08-25

Article link:

<http://www.tourism-review.com/travel-tourism-magazine-kyrgyz-an-emerging-language-article586>