

Preaching in the Wilderness or Banking on the Future?

After prolific production in French, the Senegalese novelist Boubacar Boris Diop decided to write in Wolof. For a poor, multilingual population with an oral tradition, books are not a priority. Yet African writers who express themselves in their national languages are becoming more and more numerous...

Date: 2008-08-25

Article link:

<http://www.tourism-review.com/travel-tourism-magazine-preaching-in-the-wilderness-or-banking-on-the-future-article588>