28 October 2014, Macao

The Global Tourism Economy Forum • Macau 2014 (the “GTEF” or “Forum”) adjourned this afternoon (28 October), concluding the two-day meeting with tremendous success.

As an advanced international platform for tourism exchange and a bridge for multilateral cooperation, this edition has invited over 40 ministerial officials, globally-renowned corporate leaders, experts and scholars from around the world to address the Forum under the theme “Maritime Silk Road - From Macau We Begin”. Close to 1,000 delegates from different countries and cities around the world attended the occasion, including delegations from four provinces and autonomous regions in Mainland China. Approximately 180 local and overseas media representatives attended and covered the event.

Ms. Pansy Ho, Secretary-General of GTEF summarized the Forum in her remark, “From our distinguished speakers, we learned that the 21st century Maritime Silk Road initiative is about economic integration and cultural diversification. We have also learned that tourism has been and will continue to be an effective tool to balance the socio-economic development along the Maritime Silk Road countries; and even to recharge and revive a country through changes to tourism offerings that are beyond the limitation of borders and seasonality. From this edition, we take away many valuable lessons: clarity of vision; political will and strategic prioritization; 360-degree relationship between all stakeholders; inclusiveness; cultural sensitivity; co-existence of competitiveness and cooperation; and appreciating everything that represents the Maritime Silk Road.”
