

MAIN REASONS TO STUDY ENGLISH IN DUBLIN

itself.

There are many great destinations in the world for attending English courses. Every country is generally specific in its own way and has much to offer to a language enthusiast looking to improve his/her skills. However, Ireland, in particular, has found itself to be a very popular destination for English courses for anyone around the world, for both the courses as well as the beauty of the country

The beauty of Dublin

Dublin is a beautiful city and the heart of Ireland. The capital is a treat for visitors, so there is little doubt about why it is one of the most visited cities in the world.

Why Dublin? There are many reasons. Dublin's nightlife is an inseparable part of the city. There are over 1000 pubs in the Irish capital. Moreover, one of the oldest pubs worldwide is located here. The Brazen Head, situated just near the Guinness brewery, was founded in 1168.

But Dublin is not just pubs and nightlife, obviously. If you think Paris is the capital of love, you are in for a pleasant surprise. The remains of St. Valentine, who is the patron saint of lovers, are kept at the Whitefriar Street Carmelite Church in Dublin!

Dublin is also a centre that has a reputation for literary excellence. The city is home to numerous famous authors, such as Samuel Beckett, Seamus Heaney, Oscar Wilde and many more. It is literally a heaven for book lovers, which is also why Dublin is one of UNESCO's six cities of literature, along with Norwich, Reykjavik, Edinburgh, Melbourne and Iowa City.

Also, if you are looking for a perfect outdoor space to practice your English skills, Dublin is the place for you. With over 2,000 acres of parkland, and miles of cycling and walking paths, Phoenix Park is the largest in Europe.

Language schools in Dublin

Ireland has a long tradition of excellence in education at all levels, which is why there are many high-quality language schools in its capital. Besides a large variety of schools, there is also a great variety of course types.

It is important to choose wisely, and according to one's needs and skills, for the experience to be as fruitful as possible. Dublin's language schools offer many types of courses, such as adolescent courses (in the summer), au pair lessons, internship courses or even family courses. Professionalism and high-quality lecturers are aspects that must be taken into account.

Englishhour is an ACELS-recognised English language school. It is based in the city centre and offers a variety of English classes in order to meet the needs of as many people as possible.

The school provides courses of general and exam English and offers flexible times and course levels. It is also possible to arrange accommodation and entertainment programs for visiting students, if necessary. There are also many benefits from attending their classes, such as the location of the school, small classes, free books and materials as well as excursions to destinations in Ireland every weekend.

Date: 2017-02-08

Article link: <https://www.tourism-review.com/travel-to-study-english-in-dublin-benefits-news5284>