

U.S. CITIES TO VISIT FOR A GAMING WEEKEND

For those that are heavily invested in the gaming scene or if you want to visit a city to play poker, you might be curious as to which city in the US is the best for gaming. Some of the things you might be considering whilst booking your weekend away include the internet speeds in different cities as well as locations of popular gaming conventions. Perhaps you want to visit a city to play poker and would like to get a better idea of where to look. Well do not worry, here we will discuss the best cities to visit for a fun-packed gaming weekend away with your friends. Visit a city to play poker

El Segundo, California

El Segundo is a city located in California on Santa Monica Bay. This city is a hub for gaming with over 181 video game meetup locations dotted around and an average internet speed of 675Mbps, which is more than enough to the game to your heart's content. It also hosts a number of popular video game developers including the producers of "The Last of Us", Naughty Dog as well as Unbroken Studios.

El Segundo is also known for having the best video game store in the world, however, it should be noted that this is self-proclaimed. Nevertheless, this city is full of people with a passion for gaming and therefore would make a great location for you to spend the weekend with friends that are equally interested in the gaming scene.

Converse, Texas

If you are looking for a city that hosts the best video game conventions in the world then look no further than Converse, Texas. In 2019 alone, 27 gaming conventions were held in Texas with three being held in San Antonio and another three in Austin. This makes staying in Converse, Texas ideal as it is only a short drive to both of these locations.

As for Converse as a city itself, it boasts over 56 places for video game meetups and an average internet speed of 704Mbps. This means that you won't struggle to find people to play video games with and will be sure to make plenty of friends along the way. Another attractive reason to visit Converse if you enjoy playing games online is that they rank 2nd in the list of the cities with the most internet providers. This means that you won't be stuck for options when choosing a service provider which means you should be able to get a great deal.

Dana Point, California

Dana Point is a city in California located slap bang in the middle of San Diego and Los Angeles. If it is video game meetups you are looking for then look no further. Dana Point has a staggering 209 locations for meetups that are all easy to drive to. This city has an average internet speed of 632Mbps and 19 internet providers to choose from. This makes it a good option for those looking for a city that can provide a stable connection that won't cut out during an intense gaming session.

Wood Cross, Utah

Wood Cross is a smaller city located in Utah however don't let this fool you. It has the highest percentage of households with a computer which means that it's safe to say there will be a substantial amount of passionate gamers here. This city has 11 locations for video game meetups for you and your friends to join others that share a similar passion. The average internet speed in Wood Cross is 629Mbps so you don't need to stress about having a bad connection whilst away on a gaming weekend here.

There is a gaming lounge located right in the heart of the city called, Game Tyrant where you will definitely find a bunch of eager gamers to make friends with. Esports tournaments are also regularly held in the city so make sure to check out what's scheduled around the time you are thinking of booking your gaming weekend away.

Roanoke, Texas

Roanoke has a population of just 8,000 people however the average age of those living here is 38. This is a substantial younger population that is the target audience for those interested in gaming. Having around 49 places for video game meetups, only confirms that there is a real gaming scene in this small city. Roanoke also has 15 GameStop stores which again suggests that if you do decide to visit this city, you will be sure to find a bunch of gamers just like you and your friends.

Libertyville, Illinois

Libertyville is a Northern Chicago suburb that has a reputation for being a hub for gambling. For this reason, you will be sure to find people that take gaming quite seriously as well as those who play for fun at one of the 54 video game meetups dotted around the city. With an average internet speed of 681 Mbps and 19 internet providers to choose from, this will be a fun-filled weekend of gaming with your friends in Libertyville, Illinois.

Moorestown, New Jersey

Moorestown is a medium-sized city with a population of around 20,000. It is quite clear that this city has a strong gaming scene with over 206 video game meetup locations as well as having an average internet download speed of 764Mbps. There are 34 GameStops in just Moorestown alone which suggests that there is definitely a profound passion for all things gaming related.

Whether you consider yourself a hardcore gamer or the type of person who just plays for fun, you shouldn't have any trouble meeting people with similar interests. Make sure to check out any gaming-related events going on for the time you are booking your weekend away and get ready to have a blast.

Date: 2022-06-23

Article link:

<https://www.tourism-review.com/cities-in-the-usa-to-visit-for-a-gaming-weekend-news12605>