Sumptuous decor, luxurious comfort, each detail of the Royal Penthouse Suite reveals a treasure. No matter where one looks, an oeuvre d'art is for contemplation. Should it be an art deco vase; a prestigious painting, or a Persian carpet, each object has been chosen for its unique value. It is the exigency of the hotel's director and owner, Charles Tamman, that works of art are loved and appreciated by the hotel's guests. But even more than the luxurious surroundings, or the avant-garde audiovisual equipment, the exclusive service proposed by the hotel far surpasses the standard Swiss norm. A subtle perfume emanating from the wardrobes of the master dressing room pervades the area as if by magic. And as for the magnificent floral arrangements, these are created especially to bring a harmony to the environment.

Room with view

Captivating. Whether in the salon, bedroom or bathroom, the views of the lake are breathtaking. To one side, the Rade de Genève, to the other, its rippling waves extend one's view to the surrounding mountains. Nighttime, moonlight caresses the lake and the city's lights glow in their reflection. These views have inspired well-known compositions from famous musicians residing in the Royal Penthouse Suite. The balconies and terraces overlooking the hotel pool are oriented to the south and invite farniente, sipping from one's glass whilst admiring the scenery. During a jacuzzi, or the hammam, through the glass bay windows one admires the majestic Mont Blanc; an unforgettable sight, a mystic panorama...

The security of the Royal Penthouse Suite has nothing to do with the proximity of the UN, it is a must when you wish to host VIP guests well known such as the movie stars / show business people / heads of states. Surveillance cameras are situated in the corridors and at the entrance of the suite with video monitors located at the interior of the suite central alarm system and the hotel's alarm system. About President Wilson

The hotel opened in 1963. The Tamman family purchased the President Hotel from Swissair and Nestlé in 1989. The hotel reopened in 1996 as the new President Wilson hotel and a 190 million Swiss Franc investment. Member of the Luxury Collection of Starwood Hotels and Resorts since 2000, Charles Tamman, Chairman and General Manager, has set the hotel on the tracks of success. Hotel President Wilson, has completed a €26 million (CHF 40 million) renovation of its lobby, public areas and guest rooms. The renovation, which started in autumn 2007, gives the iconic Hotel President Wilson a modern new feel and ensures the property is a unique expression of its location. The new design was conceived by acclaimed Swiss architects Atelier d'Architecture 3 BM3 and was inspired by the Hotel President Wilson's magnificent setting on the banks of Lake Geneva. "Hotel President Wilson's long-standing history of welcoming prominent people from around the world, combined with its striking location, impeccable service and renovated interior ensure that it will provide a unique and enriching experience to our guests." comments Charles Tamman, Owner and General Manager.
